

Who is Dax?

Dax is a successful industrialist and businessman with a long history of building profitable companies around the world. Over the past 30 years, he has privately supported a number of charitable organizations and foundations chartered with identifying key individuals and groups that passionately embrace a dream to make our world a better place. In 2007, Dax established the Dax Foundation to centralize and coordinate his global philanthropic activities. He has now chosen to devote the remainder of his life to helping all people discover their passions while providing them the tools, resources, and support to achieve their mission.

What are Dax's beliefs?

Dax believes that all men and women carry a dream locked within their heart. Very few actually identify and pursue it, and even fewer actually live it. Through Dax's various projects he is attempting to assist all people to learn how to search their hearts, identify their passions in life and pursue them. He believes that this world would be a far better place if everyone believed in something, whatever it may be...and passionately did something about it.

What is the Dax Foundation?

The Dax Foundation is a private, California-based non-profit, charitable organization dedicated to implementing and supporting innovative programs that help people around the world identify, pursue, and realize their dreams. The Foundation provides resources, support, and raises awareness for those individuals and groups whose vision includes making the world a better place for all people and animals.

What are the Dax Foundation's goals?

To seek out and provide assistance to those individuals and groups with innovative ideas and solutions that can make a real difference and help improve the lives of people and animals around the world.

What areas does the DAX Foundation concentrate on?

The Foundation does not limit its focus to any one area and is open to programs and/or initiatives that can significantly benefit people and/or animals in need. The Foundation has provided assistance to committed individuals and groups in a wide range of areas including those that help:

- Severely disabled children
- Abused and neglected animals
- People in poverty stricken areas around the world
- People suffering from disease or illness requiring life-saving organ transplants
- Under-resourced Performing Arts and Theatrical companies

What is the Dax Foundation announcing on June 23, 2009?

The Dax Foundation is announcing that it has awarded a $50,000 performance grant to the Not Man Apart Physical Theatre Ensemble to stage a benefit production of their acclaimed Pericles-Redux which is based on William Shakespeare's original play. The benefit performances will be held at the Kirk Douglas Theatre in Los Angeles from July 17-26, 2009.

Why is the Foundation sponsoring Pericles-Redux?

This production of Pericles is a superb example of the creativeness and vibrancy brought forth by community theatre groups. We are celebrating Not Man Apart's vision of contemporary performance art and showcasing their work as a model for other growing performance arts groups to aspire to. The performances are being staged as a benefit in order to bring this acclaimed production to both new and existing theatre-goers in Los Angeles, provide additional resources for Not Man Apart to expand their productions to the Los Angeles arts community, raise awareness of the company's unique talents and communicate the importance and need for increased community support to enable talented arts groups to continue to bring great performing arts and entertainment to Los Angeles and other communities across the country.
